TWENTY-FIRST SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME (B) Sunday 25th August, 2024

Joshua 24.1–2,15–18 Psalm 33 Ephesians 5.21–32 John 6.60–69

At the end of his ministry, Joshua, who led the people of Israel into the Promised Land after the death of Moses, presents the people with a choice. He brings them to Shechem, a place strongly linked to the patriarchs Abraham and Jacob (cf. Gen. 12.6; 33.18–19) and where Joseph's bones were buried (cf. Josh. 24.32), so that the lives of their ancestors in faith be a testimony against them. Joshua challenges the people now that they have arrived at the promised land to choose whom to serve. Do they want to serve the gods of the other nations around them, the gods of the Amorites? Joshua is very emphatic about his personal decision. 'But as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord.'

The people also decide to serve the Lord and give reasons to follow him. In the Gospel, Peter gives his own response. Jesus has been speaking about him being the bread of life. He says, 'This is the bread that came down from heaven, unlike the bread their fathers ate and died. Whoever feeds on this bread will live forever.' (Jn 6.58 Twelve to ask them, 'Do you want to go away too?' Peter responds, 'Lord to whom shall we go? You have the message of eternal life.' It was difficult for the disciples to accept Jesus as the bread of life, claiming to have come down from heaven. Is it easy to accept the real presence of Jesus in the Eucharist?

In the second reading, Paul focuses on the relationships that should exist between husbands and wives. The husband-and-wife relationship is built on that between Christ and the Church. It is a relationship of respect and mutual submission to one another in love. Thus, they make a healthy home where God is loved and revered. Enshrining God in the home and following Christ's teachings makes the home a domestic church.

Keep safe and well, Fr Emile
