EIGHTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME (C) Sunday 2nd March, 2025

Sirach 27.4–7 Psalm 92 1 Corinthians 15.54–58 Luke 6.39–45

If the Beatitudes and Woes placed the Lord firmly in the Prophetic tradition, this series of examples and sayings place him equally within the Wisdom tradition. Like Sirach before him, he bases this teaching on experience, the observed world, life lived and reflected upon. And he is able to bring a smile to his listeners as talks of logs in eyes and blind people leading the blind! God's revelation is not restricted to 'holy' things and places but permeates all he has made.

The Lord's regular referencing of the natural world is done not simply to give examples but to show the profound embeddedness of the human within this good earth. As with nature, so too with us. We're not totally different from trees and their fruit, figs and thorns. The whole of the natural world is shot through with the divine for those who take time to look, to ponder, and to reflect. Mary showed the way when she pondered upon and treasured her pregnancy and the events of her child's birth. She shows that we can never separate the natural from the divine, grace from nature.

God's eternal Word, Christ himself, resounds not only through the entire cosmos but is uttered through this good earth and in every human and natural event. The Lord, influenced by the Wisdom Tradition, urges us to stop and reflect for a moment on 'how things go' and so to encounter the divine in the everyday, to glimpse the imperishable in the perishable as St Paul puts it. God's eternal Word is still addressing us in the stresses and strains of this climate crisis and as we feel the shudders of God's good earth which is still 'seared with trade; bleared, smeared with toil; And wears man's smudge and shares man's smell'.

Keep safe and well, Fr. Emile
